4.2.1 Library is automated using Integrated Library Management System (ILMS), subscription to e-resources, amount spent on purchase of books, journals and per day usage of library

Every educational institution's library is regarded as its hub and a storehouse of knowledge. The library currently has enormous space. This encompasses the textbook section, the digital library, the reading room, and the reference area.

BOOK COLLECTION: Every year, the library's collection grows. It covers a wide range of contemporary topics, including information and technology, professional ethics and human values, rare and competitive books, and more. It covers a far wider variety of topics.

AREA OF CIRCULATION: The library's mission statement is to provide all students at this institution with access to books. In addition to the three books we provide first- and second-year students, we also provide four volumes to final-year students for that reason.

A fifteen-day loan period is available for the books. You can read newspapers, magazines, journals, and periodicals in the library's enormous reading space. Readers interested in this subject should also read the earlier volumes.

SECTION OF REFERENCES: Staff, boys, and girls have their own reference areas at the library. It includes rare publications, competitive exam texts, and reference materials covering every subject. An annual orientation event at the library is held to acquaint first-year students with its collection of materials.

SPECIAL OCCASIONS: The department of libraries hosts essay writing competitions and quiz shows on current events during National Library Week, which is observed from November 14 to November 20.

REPROGRAPHIC SERVICES: Students and staff at the college can obtain reprographic services from the library.

PAST QUESTION PAPERS: The college library provides access to past question papers for both instructors and students.

DIGITAL LIBRARY: Students and staff have access to the OPAC (Open Public Access Catalogue). Students can use fifteen systems at the digital library that have LAN connections and high-speed internet access.
